
GRANDPARENTING IN FAMILIES: THEN AND NOW

Need an elective?
Interested in aging
within the family?
Sign up for FSHS 300 - 17808!

FALL 2019

October 17

to

December 13

MONDAYS 5:30-7:55PM

JESSIE PIPER, MS

Doctoral Student
Applied Family Science
Justin Hall 326
jesslee@ksu.edu

This 3 credit hour course, taught both in-person and online, takes an interdisciplinary approach to introduce unique issues involved with grandparenting in a family context. Particular emphasis will be given to examining the variability of grandparenting across cultures, time and the lifespan. Grandparenting will be discussed as it pertains to theory, research, practice and policy.