TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Statistical Methods in Family Studies and Human Services I – FSHS 806	Fall 2023
(Kansas State University)	Fall 2022
▪ Developed all content for course	Fall 2021
▪ Graduate level course	Fall 2020
▪ In-person course & online course	Spring 2020
▪ Taught students about how to calculate, interpret and analyze statistics and statistical findings in research. Emphasis was placed on applied research and application of statistical findings. The course covered topics of mean, median, mode, standard deviations, Z-Scores, hypothesis testing, reliability, validity, probability sampling, correlations, chi-square, t-test, ANOVA/ANCOVA, odds ratios, and regressions. An overview of how to use statistical software SPSS was provided.	Fall 2019

- Professional Seminar in HDFS – FSHS 585 (Kansas State University) Spring 2020
- Undergraduate level course
 - In-person course
 - Developed lectures related to intimate partner violence, child abuse, mandated reporting, diversity in the workplace, power differentials, transitioning from a student to a professional, self-care, compassion fatigue and burnout. Met with placement site supervisors to develop ongoing relationships with internship sites and monitor internship progress for the semester.
- Structural Equation Modeling II – CFT 910 (Kansas State University) Spring 2019
- Graduate level course
 - In-person course
 - Taught students about advanced research methods using structural equation modeling. This course focused on teaching students ways to conceptualize appropriate methods of statistical analyses to answer complex research questions. This course covered the topics of how to handle missing data, using non-normal data, identifying outliers, parceling, ANOVA using SEM, multiple sample path analyses, multiple sample CFA, latent mean differences, longitudinal models, power analyses, dyadic growth curves, latent class analyses, latent profile analyses, and growth mixture modeling.
- Families and Diversity – HDFS 552 (Kansas State University) Summer 2019
Spring 2019
Fall 2018
- Undergraduate level course
 - Online course
 - Facilitated critical reflection and taught students about within group and between group differences among families in the United States, the importance of diversity in society, challenges and assumptions faced by different groups in the United States, self-awareness of how one’s own background impacts the lens they view the world from, and identification and expansion on explicit and implicit perceptions of individuals who differ from the dominant culture.
- Practicum in Couple and Family Therapy – CFT 885 (Kansas State University) Spring 2018
- Graduate level course
 - In-person course
 - Facilitated group discussion on case conceptualizations, and taught about obtaining licensure as an MFT, applying for jobs, marketing oneself as a clinician, networking, training opportunities, and interviewing for future job opportunities. Collaborated with professionals in the community and nationwide to present to students on topics relevant to their future careers.

Sexual Violence – FSHS 300 (Kansas State University)

Summer 2017

- Developed all content for course
- Undergraduate level course
- Online course
- Taught students about prevalence rates of sexual violence, barriers to reporting sexual violence, sexual assault on college campuses, sexual assault in the military, treatment for survivors of sexual assault and for offenders of sexual assault, child sexual abuse, elder sexual abuse, and sexual violence in correctional facilities.

Spring 2017

Family Violence – FSHS 305 (Kansas State University)

Summer 2017

- Undergraduate level course
- Online course
- Taught students about risk markers, prevalence rates, warning signs, and debunked myths about child abuse, sibling abuse, dating violence, intimate partner violence, and elder abuse.

Spring 2017

Summer 2016
