problems in counseling centers.
- 2003 Undergraduate Research Assistant (Dr. Paul Robinson), BYU

Responsibilities: Found scholarly articles on children who abuse parents.

Research Interests

My area of programmatic research advances what is known about couple and family relationships, and the clinical treatment involved with improving these relationships. Grounded in systems theory, I have a thematic focus on cognitive, affective, and behavioral interactions between romantic partners and family members—couple- and family-processes—linked with improved relationship outcomes.

Licensure/Certifications

2021	AAMFT Approved Supervisor
