Design reaches far past trendy decoration and into the realm of beauty, function and emotion.

ROGER REED

STANDARD SHEET METAL

Marketing Director

Having spent his whole life in love with all aspects of DESIGN, Roger enjoys working in his current capacity as Marketing Director for a custom sheet metal fabricator in Kansas City. This allows Roger the opportunity to work with designers of all stripes and on all project types. Speaking to design students at colleges across the country, Roger actively communicates with future design professionals. Roger has worked on many high-profile projects including: The de Young Museum [San Francisco], BOK Arena [Tulsa], The Slo Stairs [Juilliard], The Edison [Disney Springs] plus about 30 Apple Stores dotted across the country. Currently, Roger is a big fan of the "ears forward" look that most masks offer...

CATIE SHAFFER

GLMV ARCHITECTURE

Interior Designer

Catie is a 2008 graduate from the interior design program at Kansas State University. After graduation, Catie started her career at Gossen Livingston and Associates, which has now merged to form GLMV Architecture. In the past 13 years that Catie has been with GLMV, she has designed and completed a variety of project types across a broad range of markets. Her primary focus is government, with years of experience in designing for the federal and state government, as well as for elementary and middle schools, universities and corporate entities. As a LEED AP and NCIDQ-certified interior designer, Catie's work puts her at the intersection of interiors and sustainable design.
